Hidden Treasures Piedmont & Northern Italy

Program Overview

Culturally, historically and spiritually, Italian Jewry is unique —considered neither Sephardi nor Ashkenazi. The Jews of Italy, who have lived there since the destruction of the Second Temple, have always had their own distinct culture, religious rites and cuisine and its northern kingdoms and duchies were home to small but vibrant Jewish communities.

Located at the crossroads of commerce between the Eastern Mediterranean and Northern Europe, the Jews of the Piedmont and Northern Italy enjoyed splendor and success for hundreds of years though Jewish presence in most of these areas has by and large disappeared. Nevertheless, many of its small, jewel-like Synagogues are still intact. They are towns without Jews but with spectacular Synagogues that remain as a living testament to once thriving Jewish communities.

Beginning in Bologna, and making our way through the Piedmont, we will enjoy Italy's beautiful and exotic atmosphere as we travel through Modena, Parma, Turin and Alessandria until we reach sophisticated, bustling Milan. Along the way, we will meet with members of the Jewish communities of Turin and Milan and learn about Italian Jewish history and culture from our accompanying scholar, Chaim Seidler-Feller.

We invite you to join us as we visit some of these hidden treasures — beautiful, original Synagogues that recall the kabbalists, physicians, bankers, peddlers, and poets who left their mark in the distinctive annals of Jewish Italy.

Tentative Daily Itinerary*

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23 | BOLOGNA

Arrive Bologna, check in to the 5 star Grand Hotel Majestic Gia Baglioni — superbly located in the city center. Rest and relax.

Late afternoon: (optional) walking tour of Cathedral Square with its Grand Basilica and charming pedestrian streets lined with quaint shops and cafes.

Evening: Chaim Seidler-Feller, “Jewish Life and Culture in Italy: Between Cultural Integration and Religious Separation,” followed by an opportunity to get to know one another and opening dinner at our hotel (included).

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 24 | BOLOGNA

Today we will tour Bologna, including a visit to its lovely synagogue and the Holocaust memorial, whose architects won the International Design Competition. The winning design — called the Shoah Memorial — is a moving testament to the Jews of Italy who perished in the Holocaust.

After lunch on our own, we will visit the historic, fascinating Anatomical Teatro building — located at one of the world’s oldest continuously operating universities and nearby our hotel. The Anatomical Theatre, now a museum, and part of the University of Bologna, is completely carved from spruce with an imposing marble table still in position before the teacher’s chair.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 25 | BOLOGNA—FERRARA—BOLOGNA

Day trip to Ferrara — setting of the novel, The Garden of the Finzi Contini. Home of some of Italian Jewry’s most outstanding personalities, Hebrew printing flourished and was known throughout Europe as one of the leaders of Jewish publications in the 15th and 16th centuries. In Ferrara, we will tour the Jewish Museum, see its three synagogues, and break for lunch on our own before returning to Bologna.

Evening: Chaim Seidler-Feller, “R.Obadia Sforno and R. Shmuel David Luzatto (Shadal): Modernizing Sages in Bologna and Padua,” followed by dinner on our own.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26 | MODENA – PARMA

Depart Bologna for Parma, with a stop in Modena to visit its historic and haunting synagogue — at one time, located in the center of the old Jewish ghetto (which existed from 1638 to 1859) and it is one of the largest Synagogues in Italy.

From Modena, we will continue on to Parma- acclaimed for its art, architecture and gastronomy — an elegant city with a compact historic zone, a historic Romanesque cathedral, and a stunning 12th century Baptistery.

Upon arrival we have lunch (included) and visit the Biblioteca Palatina, or Palatina Library, best known for preserving its rare book collection and its valuable, and impressive collection of old Hebrew manuscripts.

Check in to the Grand Hotel de la Ville. Dinner at our hotel (included).

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27 | ALESSANDRIA – TURIN

Depart Parma for Turin with a stop in Alessandria, the third largest city in the Piedmont region, with its own unique Jewish history dating back to the 15th century. The Jewish ghetto in Alessandria can still be discerned in the buildings which remain — complete with galleries, balconies, and internal passageways. Here, we will visit its 1871 post-Emancipation synagogue — famous for its neo-baroque façade and admired for its exquisite interior.

Lunch along the way (included) before continuing on to Turin.

Check in the 5 star Principi de Piedmont hotel in time to attend Shabbat services and have dinner (included) with some of the leading members of the Turin community.
